Scrapie testing

- All rams to be upgraded to full pedigree must have an individual test for scrapie to the office
- This will be entered onto the sheep database and appear on the pedigree certificate and in society sale catalogues
- You can request a scrapie test kit from the society this is the same kit used for DNA parentage testing
- For entry in Worcester Premier Sale all sheep are tested and have the genotype ARR/ARR

DNA

SHEEP
SOCIETY

- For all 2023 born lambs, and beyond, it will not be possible to register them unless a DNA parentage test has been submitted for their sires.
- As a breeder you do not receive any 'result' from this analysis. But the DNA information is stored with Neogen for future work. If your animals have data stored it is, then possible to parentage check their progeny.
- For 2023 born lambs we now require that the sire of these lambs have had a DNA sample taken. To upgrade a ram for pedigree use they will require both a Scrapie Genotype result and evidence of a DNA sampling having been completed.

Breed characteristics

SOCIETY

Loin - This should be long, wide and deep. The eye muscle should be full. Animals should not be over fat across the loin.

Gigot - The gigot should be thick, deep and full. The rump should be thick and wide. Narrow, sloping rumps are undesirable.

Growth - Growth is important in the breed, therefore well grown sheep are of merit. However, sheep that are just tall and without good fleshing qualities are not of merit. Big is only beautiful if accompanied with good loin and gigot.

Head - A good Charollais head is full of character, alert without wool. The skin colour is pink with a varying amount of creamy, sandy or white coloured hair. The varying amount of hair gives animals within the breed a difference in appearance. A distinctive feature of the breed is a white flash above each eye. Regional / breeder preferences as to amount and colour of head hair are acceptable. Heads should not be too small in the muzzle and should be broad between the eyes. Females should have a kind head and rams a stronger masculine head.

Fleece - The breed should have a good quality fleece; dense but not too long nor open. It should be complete over the body without breaks but not extending down the legs or over the head.

STRUCTURAL CORRECTNESS

Teeth - Teeth should ideally be short, straight and directly onto the pad. Deviations away from this optimum either back, forward or splayed are undesirable.

Feet and Pasterns - Feet should be neat and balanced, cleats should not be open nor misshapen. Pasterns should be short, straight and upright.

Shoulders and Topline - Shoulders should be well fleshed and level. They should not be narrow and pointed nor too heavy and coarse. The breed should not carry excessive fat over the shoulder. Topline should be strong and level with good length.

Front Legs Straight, balanced legs are most desirable; neither too close nor too wide apart. They should be a good colour. Bone should neither be too fine or heavy. Soundness of movement is important.

Back Legs - Legs should be set well apart but not extreme. There should be a good definition of hock; not over bent or too straight. Again, bone should neither be too fine or too heavy. Good balanced mobility is important.
